1. Purpose

A known supplier of airport supplies refers to a supplier whose procedures comply with the common security regulations and provisions, such as to permit the delivery of airport supplies in sterile areas.

Regulation of the European Commission (EC) no. 1998/2015 and the National Security Programme set forth that the competent individual for appointing known suppliers is the airport manager.

This procedure defines the process for issuing the Certificate of Designation for Known Suppliers of airport supplies

As airport supplies may be a possible way of entering weapons, explosives or other prohibited items into the airside area, the primary aim is to ensure the security of these supplies. To this end, the regulation in force provides that airport supplies are subject to control before being authorised to enter sterile areas, except in cases in which the supplies have been subject to security checks by a “known supplier” - appointed by the airport manager - and have been protected from illicit interference.

2. Regulatory Framework

- Parliament and Council Regulation No. 300/2008
- Commission Regulation (EU) No. 1998/2015
- Civil Aviation National Security Programme
- ENAC Circular Sec. 05A
- Security Training Manual

3. Individuals in charge

The implementation of the provisions contained in Chapter 9 of the PNS ed. 2 is ensured by:

- The Airport Manager
- Known Suppliers of Airport Supplies

4. Individuals concerned

- E.N.A.C. Lazio Airport System Directorate
- State Bodies
- Management Company - Aeroporti di Roma S.p.A.
- Suppliers of products sold and/or used in the airport

5. General criteria for issuing Certificates of Designation

The appointment of Known Suppliers is carried out by the management company, Aeroporti di Roma S.p.A., following an appropriate preliminary investigation. The latter shall have a maximum period of 60 days from the verification of the Security Programme, within which Aeroporti di Roma S.p.A. shall issue, following the required controls, the Certificate of Designation.

6. Known Supplier Prerequisites

The applicant must be in possession of a contract justifying the need to deliver airport supplies to sterile areas.

Security checks that Known Suppliers must apply

Security checks other than screening carried out on airport supplies, defined as the application of means and procedures capable of preventing the entry of prohibited items amongst such supplies (e.g. documentary checks during the acceptance stage, tampering with supplies, etc.) must be carried out:

- before entry into the sterile area;
- by the known supplier's staff, trained in accordance with point 11.2.3.10 of Regulation (EU) 1998/2015, Cat. A10 of the ENAC Security Training Manual;
- ensuring the application of the provisions contained in point 9.1.4 of Regulation (EU) 1998/2015.

Known suppliers of airport supplies must provide for procedures to protect the supplies after the performance of security checks, in order to protect them from illicit interference from when the checks are carried out until their delivery.

Tasks of the Head of Security

The Head of Security, appointed by the Known Supplier and trained in accordance with point 11.2.5 of Regulation (EU) 1998/2015 Category A12-bis of the Security Training Manual and, in the event of checks, also pursuant to the point 11.2.3.10 of Regulation (EU) 1998/2015 Category A10 of the ENAC Security Training Manual, shall:

- ensure that all measures pertaining to the security of airport supplies are taken in accordance with the provisions of the Security Programme (please see Appendix 2);
- draw up, update and ensure the implementation of that Programme with no irregularities;
- ensure that staff training is carried out;
- ensure that internal quality controls are carried out.

Staff Training

Known Suppliers of Airport Supplies must:

- ensure that individuals have access to airport supplies, that the staff receiving those supplies in sterile areas and/or any carriers/couriers receive general security awareness training, enabling them to understand their responsibilities in this field, in accordance with point 11.2.7 of Regulation (EU) 1998/2015, Category A14 of the ENAC Security Training Manual;
- ensure that staff responsible for security checks other than screening, in accordance with point 9.1.4 of Regulation (EU) 1998/2015, are selected in accordance with point 11.1 and trained in compliance with point 11.2.3.10 of Regulation (EU) 1998/2015 Category A10 of the ENAC Security Training Manual;
- ensure that staff responsible for screening airport supplies are trained in accordance with point 11.2.3.3 of Regulation (EU) 1998/2015 Category A3 of the ENAC Security Training Manual;
- ensure that this training is provided before staff have unescorted access to the supplies.

Control of access to premises and protection of airport supplies

Known Suppliers of Airport Supplies must ensure:

- that access to their premises, used to prepare and store supplies, is controlled to prevent access by unauthorised individuals;
- that such measures are constantly applied;
- that supplies, identified as airport supplies, are adequately protected from illicit interference.

Receipt of products to be identified as airport supplies

Known suppliers of airport supplies must ensure that, at the time of receipt of products from the manufacture:

- all necessary measures are applied to reasonably ensure that such products correspond to the accompanying documentation;
- the security checks specified in point 9.1.4 of Regulation (EU) 998/2015 are applied.

Seals

Seals are applied to reveal any tampering on all vehicles and/or containers transporting airport supplies or to physically protect these.

Seals capable of revealing any tampering are those that show any attempt of interference, whether they are broken or whether the number does not correspond to that recorded. If numbered seals are used, a record of these must be kept.

Tampering refers to: a supply or part thereof that shows signs of alteration, such as to permit the entry of a prohibited item. The identification of any tampering or any lack of protection from illicit interference with the airport supply must be carried out at the point of access to the sterile area by staff responsible for security control.

Identification of supplies

Supplies are identified as airport supplies:

- if a visible label has been affixed to the supply by the known supplier and/or
- if they are accompanied by specific documentation.

Supplies are handled as airport supplies from the time they are identified as such until their delivery to the sterile area.

Delivery to sterile areas

Known Suppliers must deliver airport supplies:

- using their own vehicles and staff or
- using a courier. In this case, known suppliers must specify, in their Security Programme, both whether they use a courier and whether security measures and procedures are applied by the courier, also ensuring that all security checks provided for in this procedure have been carried out.

In the event of change of courier, the Known Supplier must promptly update the Security Programme.

Upon delivery to the sterile area, the staff receiving the supply shall perform a visual check in order to ensure that there are no signs of tampering.

Additional security provisions for supplies of LAGs and STEBs

Supplies of STEBs must be delivered to sterile areas, in packages capable of revealing any tampering.

After entering the airside area or a sterile area and until their final sale at the point of sale, LAGs and STEBs must be protected from unauthorised interference.

7. Irregularities and security incidents

Any irregularity detected by the Known Supplier's staff must be immediately reported by the company's Security.

In the event of security incidents (e.g. suspicious item, bomb threat, etc.) the Known Supplier's Head of Security must inform:

- the Border Police of the airport concerned;
- the ENAC – Lazio Airport System Directorate (specifying the airport concerned);
- the Security Manager of Aeroporti di Roma S.p.A.

8. Transportation of airport supplies from the landside area to the airside area

Known Suppliers or their couriers must, during the transportation of airport supplies from the landside area to the critical section of the sterile area, apply the following security measures:

Transportation with vehicle use

- each vehicle used must be made secure;
- immediately before loading, the loading area of the vehicle must be controlled in order to ensure that no prohibited item is present until completion of the loading process;
- immediately after completion of the loading process, the loading area must be closed off or sealed and the vehicle must not be left unattended;
- if this is not possible, the driver, upon his return, must carry out a visual check to detect the presence of any tampering.

The supply, if delivered by courier on behalf of a Known Supplier, must always be accompanied by the relevant "Carrier Certificate" (Appendix 4).

Transportation using manually operated trolleys

- transportation must be carried out by a known supplier's staff;
- the trolley carrying the airport supply must not be left unattended;
- the trolley carrying the supply must be kept under constant visual control.
